TAYLOR EVERSOLE

Eversole moves from front door to center stage

First, an update about the Weekly Music Calendar coming out in the Friday newspaper. If you want to find out earlier in the week who's playing where, say, on Wednesday or Thursday, you can always go to MadisonMusic.org and view the Music Calendar there. That calendar has the very latest info, continuously updated. Now, on to this week's personal profile ...

CHARLIE'S BEAT

Most of us know Taylor Eversole as the guy who checks IDs at Off Broadway Taproom. Or you might know him from Josh Denny's State Farm office. Taylor is a man of few words when he's on door duty, and his very large and imposing presence tends to discourage a lot of chit chat.

Pilot Club has steered path of service for 5 decades

BY BOB DEMAREE

For 50 years, the Pilot Club of Madison has served the local community, a milestone that will be celebrated with an event at the Venture Out Business Center on Saturday.

The Pilot Club of Madison was chartered on March 24, 1973, and is part of a larger organization, Pilot International that was chartered Oct. 18, 1922. The name "Pilot" was inspired by the mighty riverboat pilots of that era representing leadership and guidance.

"The women wanted to be helpful and do things in the community, and that's what Pilot Club is," said Elsie Perry-Payne, a 40-year club member who continues to participate locally even after moving to Iowa in 2021.

Locally, the Pilot Club is well-known for its semiannual festival, Old Court Days, which is the club's only fundraising activity. Old Court Days is held around the Jefferson County Courthouse during Memorial Day weekend and the same week as the Madison

Sandhill crane rounding into form

An effort to cover over wall taggings in Madison's Hentz Alley is becoming stunning art with Louisville artists Jenna Watkins and Ryan Lanham creating a sandhill crane mural in the alley behind 118 East Main Street, home of Unique Boutique, and behind 111 East Second Street, The Chandler Hotel. Once the mural is finished, the wall will be protected with a sealant that doesn't stop tagging but makes it easier to clean. Watkins is the daughter of Madison resident Kevin Watkins.

Hook sentenced to 10 years in 2017 child molestation case

BY MARK CAMPBELL

A Madison man who was charged in March 2017 with multiple felony charges of child molesting while working at a licensed daycare center operated by his wife has been sentenced six years later to 10 years at Indiana Department of Corrections, fully executed.

Joseph D. Hook II, 45, was sentenced Monday by Senior Judge Jonathan W. Webster, of Jennings County, who was appointed to preside over the

Joseph D. Hook II

Jefferson County case because Circuit Judge D.J. Mote had been the county's prosecutor at the time Hook was charged.

Hook had entered a plea agreement in the case on Sept. 14, 2022, but later tried to withdraw that plea. Webster rejected the withdrawal since Hook was represented by counsel at the hearing and Hook ultimately opted to move forward with the plea agreement.

Hook was originally charged with two Level 1 felony counts of child molesting, a Level 4 felony count of child molesting and a Felony A count of child molesting between Oct. 2, 2011 and June 30, 2014.

Under the plea agreement he pleaded guilty to child molesting-fondling or touching a child under age 14 and child molesting-defendant at least 21 years of age. Two other counts of child molesting and one count of child molesting-intercourse or deviate sex with victim less than 14 while defendant is at least 21 were dismissed as part of the plea agreement.

Indiana State Police began investigating the allegations in January 2017 after a mother called 911 alleging that her child had been molested while

Fleeing minivan leads to arrest of Madison man

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Jefferson County vehicle pursuit that briefly extended into Ripley County led to the arrest of a Madison man on felony charges Saturday.

Elgin Andrew Fidel

Based on the charges filed, Elgin Andrew Fidell, 34, Madison, was arrested following a pursuit that began when County Sheriff's Deputy Logan Gray attempted to stop a minivan near the intersection of Hutchinson Lane and Shun Pike after the vehicle failed to stop and fled north on Shun Pike.

The minivan continued north onto US 421 traveling into Ripley County before turning onto County Road 1050 South, and reentering Jefferson County on North West Fork Road. The driver, traveling at a high rate of speed, lost control of the vehicle, but continued on despite damaging the passenger side of the vehicle.

Near the intersection of West Fork Road and East Thornton Road, the minivan drove through a field without slowing for a field access road, causing the vehicle to become disabled.

Fidell, the driver, refused to comply with orders to exit the vehicle. He was observed attempting to conceal himself under blankets in the rear passenger area of the minivan and officers continued to give orders for him to exit the vehicle for more than an hour until a K9 from the Lawrenceburg Police Department responded to the scene and safely made entry to the vehicle and removed the driver.

Fidell was transported to Norton King's Daughters' Health for treatment, and later transported to the Jefferson County Jail where he was lodged without bond.

Charges were filed for Resisting Law Enforcement using a vehicle and Resisting Law Enforcement causing bodily injury, both Level 6 felonies; three counts of Resisting Law Enforcement, Institutional Criminal Mischief and Driving While Suspended, all Class A misdemeanors; Leaving the Scene of an Accident, a Class B misdemeanor; and Reckless Driving at a unreasonable speed, a Class C misdemeanor.

He was arraigned in for an initial hearing in Jefferson Superior Court on Tuesday where bond was set at $5,000 cash. He remains incarcerated with a pretrial conference is set for April 254 and a jury trial for May 16.

Gray was assisted in the pursuit by Indiana State Trooper Taylor Cosby and Madison Police Patrolman Curtis Shelpman. Also assisting were the Ripley County Sheriff's Office, Lawrenceburg Police Department and the Indiana Department of Natural Resources.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Friday, March 24, the 83rd day of 2023. There are 282 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On March 24, 1989, the supertanker Exxon Valdez ran aground on a reef in Alaska's Prince William Sound and began leaking an estimated 11 million gallons of crude oil.

On this date:

In 1765, Britain enacted the Quartering Act, requiring American colonists to provide temporary housing to British soldiers.

In 1832, a mob in Hiram, Ohio, attacked, tarred and feathered Mormon leaders Joseph Smith Jr. and Sidney Rigdon.

In 1882, German scientist Robert Koch announced in Berlin that he had discovered the bacillus responsible for tuberculosis.

In 1934, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a bill granting future independence to the Philippines.

In 1976, the president of Argentina, Isabel Peron, was deposed by her country's military.

In 1980, one of El Salvador's most respected Roman Catholic Church leaders, Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero, was shot to death by a sniper as he celebrated Mass in San Salvador.

In 1995, after 20 years, British soldiers stopped routine patrols in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

In 1999, NATO launched airstrikes against Yugoslavia, marking the first time in its 50-year existence that it had ever attacked a sovereign country. Thirty-nine people were killed when fire erupted in the Mont Blanc tunnel in France and burned for two days.

In 2010, keeping a promise he'd made to anti-abortion Democratic lawmakers to assure passage of his historic health care legislation, President Barack Obama signed an executive order against using federal funds to pay for elective abortions covered by private insurance.

In 2015, Germanwings Flight 9525, an Airbus A320, crashed into the French Alps, killing all 150 people on board; investigators said the jetliner was deliberately downed by the 27-year-old co-pilot, Andreas Lubitz.

In 2016, a U.N. war crimes court convicted former Bosnian Serb leader Radovan Karadzic of genocide and nine other charges for orchestrating a campaign of terror that left 100,000 people dead during the 1992-95 war in Bosnia; Karadzic was sentenced to 40 years in prison. (The sentence was later increased to life in prison.)

In 2020, the International Olympic Committee announced that the Summer Olympics in Tokyo would be postponed until 2021 because of the coronavirus.

Ten years ago: Just days after the 10th anniversary of the U.S. invasion of Iraq, U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry, on a previously unannounced trip to Baghdad, confronted Iraqi officials for continuing to grant Iran access to its airspace and said Iraq's behavior was raising questions about its reliability as a partner. Hundreds of thousands marched in Paris protesting the imminent legalization of same-sex marriage. (It would be signed into law just over two months later).

Five years ago: In the streets of the nation's capital and in cities across the country, hundreds of thousands of teenagers and their supporters rallied against gun violence, spurred by a call to action from student survivors of the school shooting in Parkland, Florida, that left 17 people dead. An extreme right-wing group in Greece claimed responsibility for an arson attack on an Afghan community center in Athens.

One year ago: Ukraine accused Moscow of forcibly taking hundreds of thousands of civilians from shattered Ukrainian cities to Russia, where some could be used as "hostages" to pressure Kyiv to give up. Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell announced that he would vote against confirming Ketanji Brown Jackson, saying he "cannot and will not" support the groundbreaking nominee for a lifetime appointment on the Supreme Court. Stephen Wilhite, the inventor of the internet-popular short-video format, the GIF, died.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Saturday, March 25, the 84th day of 2023. There are 281 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On March 25, 1931, in the so-called "Scottsboro Boys" case, nine young Black men were taken off a train in Alabama, accused of raping two white women; after years of convictions, death sentences and imprisonment, the nine were eventually vindicated.

On this date:

In 1634, English colonists sent by Lord Baltimore arrived in present-day Maryland.

In 1894, Jacob S. Coxey began leading an "army" of unemployed from Massillon, Ohio, to Washington D.C., to demand help from the federal government.

In 1911, 146 people, mostly young female immigrants, were killed when fire broke out at the Triangle Shirtwaist Co. in New York.

In 1915, the U.S. Navy lost its first commissioned submarine as the USS F-4 sank off Hawaii, claiming the lives of all 21 crew members.

In 1947, a coal-dust explosion inside the Centralia Coal Co. Mine No. 5 in Washington County, Illinois, claimed 111 lives; 31 men survived.

In 1954, RCA announced it had begun producing color television sets at its plant in Bloomington, Indiana.

In 1960, Ray Charles recorded "Georgia on My Mind" as part of his "The Genius Hits the Road" album in New York.

In 1965, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. led 25,000 people to the Alabama state capitol in Montgomery after a five-day march from Selma to protest the denial of voting rights to Blacks. Later that day, civil rights activist Viola Liuzzo, a white Detroit homemaker, was shot and killed by Ku Klux Klansmen.

In 1987, the Supreme Court, in Johnson v. Transportation Agency, ruled 6-3 that an employer could promote a woman over an arguably more-qualified man to help get women into higher-ranking jobs.

In 1990, 87 people, most of them Honduran and Dominican immigrants, were killed when fire raced through an illegal social club in New York City. (An arsonist set the fire after being thrown out of the club following an argument with his girlfriend; Julio Gonzalez died in prison in 2016.)

In 1996, an 81-day standoff by the anti-government Freemen began at a ranch near Jordan, Montana.

Ten years ago: U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry and Afghan President Hamid Karzai made a show of unusual unity between their two nations in Kabul as the U.S. military ceded control of its last detention facility in Afghanistan, ending a long-standing irritant in relations.

Five years ago: In an interview with "60 Minutes," adult film star Stormy Daniels said she had been threatened and warned to keep silent about an alleged sexual encounter with Donald Trump in 2006. A fire at a shopping mall in a Siberian city in Russia killed more than 60 people, including 41 children. Gun manufacturer Remington filed for bankruptcy reorganization amid years of slumping sales and legal and financial pressure from the Sandy Hook school massacre in Connecticut. Linda Brown, who as a young girl in Kansas became embroiled in a landmark 1954 Supreme Court case that challenged segregation in public schools, died at the age of 75.

One year ago: Democratic Sen. Joe Manchin announced his intention to support the nomination of Ketanji Brown Jackson to serve on the Supreme Court, pushing her one step closer to confirmation. Sheriff's officials in Florida said a 14-year-old boy fell to his death from a ride at an Orlando amusement park. New Orleans' school board unanimously reversed a little known but century-old ban on jazz.

Chautauqua Festival of the Arts. Vendors sell unique handmade items, crafts, antiques, collectibles and more.

Madison Pilot Club currently has 14 members, and Pam Zehren said the reason she's a part of the organization is the opportunity that it provides to help others in the community. "It's all service projects. It's really awesome," she said.

In the early years of Pilot Club's existence, Perry-Payne said there were special requirements to join the club and individuals, all professionals, had to be invited to join and voted on by club members with limits on how many members could serve from each profession.

"You could only have one person in that profession that could join the club. It was very difficult to be part of the Pilot Club," said Dee Gauger, a 48-year member. "You had to work in some profession. They were very particular who they invited."

That's no longer the case as the club is far more inclusive. The club still has mostly women members, but men can also join.

Bob Demaree

Pilot International mission statement notes the organization seeks "to influence positive change in communities throughout the world. To do this, we come together in friendship and service, focusing on encouraging brain safety and health and supporting those who care for others."

Angela Russell, president of the club, returned to the Madison Pilot Club after living in California for several years. She said the club's involvement with brain health was a factor. "I have a daughter that had a traumatic brain injury so when Elsie asked me, it was very interesting to me" to want to be a part of the club.

The Madison Pilot Club has made brain safety a priority. "We've done a lot of things to make sure kids are wearing helmets when they're riding bikes, and we've donated helmets," said Russell.

Gauger noted the Pilot Club also introduced the BrainMinders program to schools throughout Jefferson County to teach safety to children to help prevent brain injuries. "This helps the kids to know it's so important to protect your head" for physical activities such as skating, riding a bike or anything else where there's possibility of a brain injury, said Russell.

While brain safety remains a priority, the organization's clubs also focus on projects related to other needs in the communities where they are located. "We're known for being helpful," said Russell.

The Pilot Club was active in the establishment of the Jefferson County Youth Shelter through the work of Karin Hamilton and Gauger. "They were big in making sure that got started," said Russell.

The Pilot Club minutes from 1983, state that Hamilton discussed the need for a youth shelter for Jefferson County. As the wife of Wayne Hamilton, who was County Sheriff in the 1980s, and in her role as matron at the county jail, Karin Hamilton realized the need for a shelter for youth who had no place to go. Because of the work started by Karin Hamilton through the Pilot Club, the youth shelter opened in April of 1987.

The local Pilot Club has also contributed in other ways like donating a wheelchair swing to Hickory Creek Nursing Home and playing a role in starting an Alzheimer's program at Hanover Nursing Home. The club also has participated in scholarships for local school seniors, contributed special classroom needs to local teachers, promoted breast cancer awareness, participated in local nursing home activities, and numerous other projects and activities by volunteering time and talent.

In 2000, the Madison Pilot Club established Anchor Club for high school age students in Jefferson County to assist with the service projects. "It's very important that they start learning to volunteer, and to be kind when they are in high school," said Russell.

Saturday's 50th-year celebration is open to the public at the Venture Out Business Center, 975 Industrial Drive, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

high quality life in Madison. This round of PACE awards was exceptional. It included five dilapidated unsafe structures, two of which were on Walnut Street and it leveraged the city's investment 11 times. PACE is reversing the negative impact from long-term neglect and lack of property maintenance and the city's preservation and community based investment model is generating huge dividends. I couldn't be more prouder."

Rebeccah Brown, representing Covert Grove Properties LLC, was at last week's PACE meeting in which that board evaluated applications to determine which scored high enough to qualify for PACE assistance.

The properties at 302 West Street and 304 West Street, have been in poor condition for many years. A fire at the site on Feb. 16, 1988, when it was J.J.'s Bar, resulted in the death of a man in a third floor apartment. The buildings were purchased by Covert Grove Properties LLC on Dec. 20, 2022. Speaking before the PACE committee, Brown noted that in spite of unsafe conditions, the structures were still inhabited until December.

"They need work from basement to the chimney and everything in between," she said, adding that with investment and effort an "unsafe, dilapidated" building can be "ready for a new life."

While the city will contribute $50,000 in dilapidated structure awards — $25,000 per address — the amount of private investment by Covert Grove Properties LLC will be significantly more. For 302 West Street, the private investment is slated at $822,300 while private investment in 304 West Street is estimated at $582,900.

Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning, said the 302 West Street and 304 West Street properties will eventually receive a full re-model but for PACE award purposes, the funds will be used to stabilize the properties with tuck pointing, roofing and structural interior work.

Brown said plans for the buildings include second and third floor apartments in both once the restoration and rehabilitation is complete, while developing retail space on the first floor. "It's an amazing opportunity," she said.

Tirrie Jenkins, president of the non-profit Madison Christian Health and Developmental Services, said her organization was deeded the property at 705 Walnut Street in late January of last year, after the property had been vacant for many years prior to that with damage from a fire.

Schell said the PACE funding for the property at 705 East Walnut Street will help to clean out the building, remove fire damaged portions, make foundation repairs and shore up the building. "She's combining this grant with several others to enclose and bring it up to a safe structure," Schell said.

"The goal is to preserve it as is, not to change its structure or its use," Jenkins said at last week's PACE meeting. She said it previously had been used for rental housing with five units, although it hasn't been determined exactly how the rental units will be divided in the future. She suggested there's the possibility of combining rental living spaces with a storefront, or even possibly using portions as an airbnb. "It will be something so the not-for-profit is generating some funds to do what our ambition is to do in the community," she said.

Ludington said the plan for 111 East Fourth Street property "is general restoration, rehabilitation and repair" for what was the "home of the first black elected official in the history of Jefferson County" — Charles Cosby, who was a member of City Council in the 1970s.

Schell said the property at 111 East Fourth Street is legally part of the 601 Mulberry Street parcel. The PACE funding will provide for masonry, exterior wall repairs including existing siding, and work on doors, windows and the side porch. The house was moved to the back side of the property of 601 Mulberry Street by Ludington after the expansion of King's Daughters' Hospital in downtown Madison impacted the 700 block of Poplar Street.

Schell said the project at 526 Walnut Street will provide a full remodel that will include partial demolition, siding, mechanicals and interior work.

Courtney noted that structure was "very dilapidated, and allowed to deteriorate by neglect for a very long period of time."

Mark Viterna, president of Madison Unlimited LLC, said at last week's PACE meeting, the structure "has been vacant for quite some time" and hopes are "to restore this project to what it was."

Two other PACE grants were also approved — both for $7,500. The PACE grant for 768 West Third Street, owned by Steward and Kimberly Hizey, is for windows and new siding installation. The PACE grant for 125 East Main Street, the Red Bicycle Hall, is for work on gutters and the upper story windows.

In other PACE action, a final PACE award of $7,500 was approved for 215 Ferry Street to Marcus Gray for which included tuck pointing, additional masonry work, strengthening the staircase on the building's south side and a new coat of white paint.

A two-month extension to May 21 was granted to Brian Marshall for 411 Dowell Street in which a $25,000 dilapidated structures grant had been awarded. The delay is necessary due a delay in shipment of new windows.

Overall, a total of $140,000 was approved for the seven PACE projects. The overall total private investment by owners for the projects is estimated at $1,623,777.69.

"This is why our PACE program has been successful, and it is the approach that we work on with all property owners across the city, which is to help us develop a plan to abate unsafe, dilapidated nuisance properties, and preserve those historic contributing properties in our historic district," Courtney said. "It's a successful program with the successful outcome, and it's got that outcome because we're working with property owners to form a plan, and we're continuing to invest in Madison, and ask property owners to do the same.

"I'm really pleased to see these property owners and these five dilapidated structures" working toward salvaging them," Courtney added. "If this continued, it would no doubt result in their eventual demolition because of the unsafe nature of these structures. I'm really happy that the city of Madison has taken a lead on abating the dozens of unsafe structures but doing it in partnership with private property owners."

HOOK

at Hook's Daycare on State Road 256.

A 4-year-old child later described to troopers inappropriate conduct with Joseph Hook, a probable cause affidavit said.

A 10-year-old child who was interviewed later in January described an incident at the daycare where Joseph Hook inappropriately touched her in early 2015. The child said she asked for a drink of water, and Hook followed her to the kitchen. A third child — a 5-year-old female — described an incident to investigators in March 2017 where a male teacher with a black beard had been inappropriate with her. When arrested Hook was wearing a beard.

During Monday's sentencing hearing, Hook was ordered to serve 10 years prison on each count, concurrent, with no time suspended but credit for 215 days served. Hook was also ordered to register as sex offender and pay a fine of $250; court costs of $185 and a Child Abuse Prevention Fee of $100.

Hook was advised of his appellate rights and remanded to the custody of the Jefferson County Sheriff for incarceration in the county jail pending transfer to a state prison.

The case, now more than six years in litigation, was delayed by a number of issues from the appointment of a special judge to Hook changing defense teams three times and from potential issue involving alleged interference to the COVID pandemic. Some state statues relevant to the case underwent changes during the lengthy proceedings and rulings involves appeals to the Indiana Court of Appeals and the Indiana Supreme Court.

In the end, the case involved dozens of hearings and filings prior to Monday's sentencing and the case could still be headed to more appeals.

BZA approves variances for 1st Street Saloon

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison's Board of Zoning Appeals approved two variances that will allow a downtown saloon to construct an outdoor area for smokers and utilize nearby parking at the city of Madison's Jefferson Street parking lot.

Apple/Tree LLC and owner Paulette Boncutter had already been before Madison's Plan Commission and received support for a project to construct a concrete pad at the 1st Street Saloon, 313 East First Street. However, since plans for the proposed pad will place it closer to the property line than allowed by ordinance, BZA still had to sign off by approving a variance.

A hearing was held on the application Monday night with no one objecting to the proposal. The brick 1800s structure has served many uses over the years — it was a wool warehouse in the 1800s, the Madison Elks Lodge after the Elks building on West Street was destroyed by fire several years ago and a urology doctor's office at one point — but has been a saloon the past 11 years.

Boncutter said the plan is to develop the concrete pad as a smoking area for patrons and then make the bar itself smoke free. The plan also includes developing one ADA parking space alongside the building as well as several parking spots for golf carts to accommodate Madison's golf cart community.

Overflow parking would then find nearby available space — as is currently the practice — with a variance sought and approved to allow patrons to park in the city's Jefferson Street lot, which is within the 500-foot requirement for the business.

In approving the application by a 4-0 vote, board members noted that since neighbors have not complained and the business has operated at the site for 11 years, adoption of the variances was more of a formality.

In other business, the BZA approved a conditional use permit for Kerri Tucker to operate an in-home daycare at 2713 Basswood Drive.

Tucker said she only recently was made aware that she needed a permit to operate an in-home daycare after having operated her licensed facility at the site for about 20 years. Citing that no neighbors have complained about the business and no complaints have been filed on its operations, the board approved the conditional use 4-0.

The BZA also granted a conditional use for Albertson Investment Group to operate a short-term rental at 1017 Park Avenue. Chris Albertson, of Scottsburg, said his family bought the new construction with plans to stay in the house some and rent it when not being used by family members. The board approved the application as long as quiet hours are observed from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. and no outside amplified music is allowed as well as other restrictions.

The board also approved several application renewals including an annual renewal for the White Barn Venue, LLC at 501 Thomas Hill Road. Since the local wedding venue has been in operation for several years and there have been no recent complaints, BZA Chairman Scott Baldwin made a motion and received approval for the business to be extended to three-year renewals effective immediately.

STAGE

But that initial impression belies the reality of the intelligent, thoughtful, gregarious and thoroughly delightful person behind his stoic facade. He loves kids, he can swat a softball about a mile, he enjoys music of all kinds, especially the band Slipknot. And the dude can flat out sing!

"I come from a very musical family," related Taylor. "My dad, Joey Eversole, is a pro-level guitar player, and my mom is a great piano player and singer. So growing up there were always a lot of guitars around the house.

"At some point I got hold of my dad's prized Fender Stratocaster and started banging on it, breaking strings and what not. And dad said, OK, look, if you're gonna play it, at least do it right. He taught me the chords Em, G, C and D, and he said, with those four chords you can play most rock and pop songs.

"And he was right! I promptly learned 'Turn the Page' by Bob Seger when I was about 16 years old, and I haven't looked back since."

Lately Taylor has been picking up some Thursday and Friday night gigs at our local music venues, like the Drake, the Taproom, and the 1st Street Saloon.

"My dad was pretty much kicking my butt to get out and start performing in public. I just needed that push to get over the nervousness and get out there. Now that I've done it a few times, I can see how it can be pretty addictive.

"When you get an audience who is paying attention and really engaging with your performance, it's pretty awesome. And I work hard to keep it fresh, never really playing the exact same set in the same order.

"I've hit on a good formula for an entertaining show. I pick a strong opener and closer to bookend the show. I never play two sad songs in a row. And I pick the songs that fit my voice, that I know I can sing well. I don't try to force it.

"And while I do play a lot of the singalong favorites, I'll occasionally throw in a song that the audience has never heard, just to mix it up. Songs by the Gin Blossoms are a good example of that. I love a lot of their songs, but not everybody knows them.

"What do I envision as my future in music? Well, anybody who knows me knows my favorite band is the heavy metal group Slipknot. If I could be front man for a band that does metal covers, that would be my dream job! I'm just putting that out there in the universe, if anybody is listening.

Hot Tip of the Week

On the calendar I see Matt Red Moore at 1st Street Saloon on Friday, and the Albumists at The Central on Saturday, which is also Matt. I can't recommend this young man enough. His energy and talent always result in an entertaining show. On Saturday you might want to head up the riverfront to the Cotton Mill Fairfield Inn & Suites by Marriott, where Jackson Bladen will be tickling the ivories on the hotel's lovely Yamaha grand piano. That starts at 7 p.m. Jackson has a great voice, and plays many of the great classic pop songs we all know and love. And Sunday? The one and only Darryl Hewitt at Rivertown Grill, baby!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

I Love Annuities BUT

"Layin' it on the line"

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/ Wealth Management

Love them or Hate them, let the benefits they provide speak for themselves

There is a well-known Financial Planner, and you may have seen him appear on television and in print advertising, who has built his reputation by making this bold and controversial statement. "I hate annuities…" The intent of this paper is not to bring attention to or to discredit this professional pitchman.

He has already done that by making irresponsible statements, such as this, in public while privately buying stocks in companies that sell them. My purpose is to state, "I love annuities… but annuities may not be for everyone or used for all purposes…especially if the purpose of your money is to leave part or all of your estate to your beneficiaries." In cases like this, I recommend life insurance.

Following is a brief listing of reasons why I love annuities if the purpose of your money is to spend it while you are alive: • Your money is safe in an annuity because your principal is protected. • Your money is secure in an annuity because it is protected by the strength of the insurance company that sells it. • Because annuities are tax-deferred, interest earned on your account is not taxed until you withdraw funds from your annuity. • The proceeds received from your annuity go directly to your beneficiary after your death and will avoid probate. • An indexed annuity earns interest on the income growth of the index but is not subject to market losses. • You may choose an income rider on your annuity that will guarantee lifetime income for you and spouse.

Following is a brief listing of reasons why I love life insurance if the purpose of your money is to provide for your beneficiaries after your death: • Life insurance may be used to replace the policy owner's lost wages after death. • Life insurance proceeds may be used to help pay for your children or grandchildren's education. • Life insurance proceeds may be used to help pay off debts, and to protect your spouse's financial independence. • Life insurance may be used to pay off a home mortgage, allowing your spouse to live in the family home without debt. • Life insurance may be used to support your favorite charities. • Life insurance may be used to pay funeral expenses • Life insurance provides tax advantages to the owner and beneficiaries like no other product can. • Some life insurance policies may provide benefits to pay for nursing and home health care expenses.

In conclusion, I love annuities and you should too if the purpose of your income is to provide for you while you are alive. I love life insurance and recommend it to my clients if the purpose of your money is to leave it to your beneficiaries after your death.

What is the purpose of your money? What do you want it to accomplish?

I recommend you consult your trusted advisor to help answer this critical question for you and your family.

MADISON COURIER GIRLS BASKETBALL PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Barron impressed from the moment she stepped on the court

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Shawe head girls basketball coach Drew Kring can pinpoint the very moment that he realized freshman Audrey Barron was going to be a star. It wasn't long after she put on the Shawe uniform for the very first time.

"The first practice," Kring said with a smile.

No Shawe player in recent memory has begun her career with more hype but Barron lived up to that and more, leading the Hilltoppers to a record-setting season and earning this year's Madison Courier Girls Basketball Player of the Year award.

Barron showcased her shooting ability in her very first game but it wasn't until midseason that she hit her stride. By that time, the Hilltoppers were humming on all cylinders, en route to a school-record 17 wins and the program's first Ohio River Valley Conference championship.

Barron had been turning heads at the junior high level for several years and much was expected from her when she finally got a chance to play in high school. Nobody had higher expectations than Barron herself, who was ready to play right away.

"I fell like I did pretty good, but I could do better," Barron said. "I could be more confident in some of the games."

It might surprise some that Barron feels that she could be more confident, but it was something that Kring noticed as well. Athletic and standing 5-foot-8, Barron was a matchup nightmare on the inside, but she spent much of the season settling for outside jumpers.

Both player and coach feel like she will have more success once she begins consistently going to the rim.

"She has the ability to pretty much do whatever she wants on the court and it goes back to that confidence of when she starts to figure some things out," Kring said. "I think as you saw her progression through the season, you really saw that confidence come through."

Kring said he could really see it click for Barron during a game

GIRLS BASKETBALL AWARDS

Coach of the Year Todd leads rebuilding Pacers to 13 wins

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

No area team was more affected by graduation this season than Switzerland County. The Pacers graduated four starters that accounted for nearly 90% of the Pacers' scoring off a 17-win team — primarily in twins Maddie and Jessie Duvall — the later of whom was the Madison Courier Player of the Year.

But despite the losses, Switzerland County practically didn't miss a beat. The Pacers won 13 games with virtually a brand-new lineup and were in contention for the Ohio River Valley Conference championship until the final week of the season.

With apologies to Shawe's Drew Kring, who led the Hilltoppers to a school-record 17 wins and the program's first ORVC title in nearly 30 years, the most impressive coaching job of the season came from Switzerland's Brooke Todd, who molded an inexperienced squad into a title contender to earn this year's Madison Courier Girls Baskerball Coach of the Year award.

How impressive was Todd's performance? No Switzerland County player averaged more than 11 points per game and none were First or Second Team All-Courierarea selections. The Pacers won games on defense, allowing only 43 points per game and holding six opponents to under 35 points, including eventual sectional champion South Ripley in December.

While Kring may not have took home the coaching

Notre Dame close to deal with Shrewsberry

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SOUTH BEND — Notre Dame is finalizing a deal to make Penn State's Micah Shrewsberry — a former player and assistant coach at Hanover College — its new men's basketball coach, two people with direct knowledge of the situation told The Associated Press on Wednesday.

Micah Shrewsberry

The people spoke on condition of anonymity because contract details were still being completed and needed school approval.

Shrewsberry, in his second season at Penn State (23-14), led the Nittany Lions to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2011 and a tournament victory for the first time since 2001.

The Nittany Lions beat Texas A&M 76-59 and were eliminated by Texas 71-66 in the second round.

Notre Dame has been searching for a replacement for Mike Brey, who spent the last 23 seasons as coach of the Fighting Irish. He announced in January that this would be his last season with Notre Dame.

The Irish finished 11-21.

Shrewsberry, 46, grew up in Indianapolis and played for Cathedral High School there. He went to college at Division III Hanover College where he played for coach Mike Beitzel from 1995-1999 and was a three-year starter and tri-captain and led the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference in assists and free throw percentage as a senior. He earned a bachelor's degree from Hanover and a master's degree in sports management from Indiana State University.

After his playing days, Shrewsberry served as an assistant coach at Wabash and DePauw before serving as director of basketball operations with Ron Jirsa's staff at Marshall from 2003-05. He was then named head coach at Indiana University South Bend, an NAIA school located in the same city as Notre Dame, from 2005-07.

Shrewsberry served as an assistant coach to Brad Stevens at Butler when the Bulldogs were national runners-up in 2010 and 2011 and to Matt Painter at Purdue before joining Stevens as an assistant with the Boston Celtics from 2013-19. He returned to Purdue from 2019-21 until his hiring at Penn State.

ESPN first reported Notre Dame was close to a deal with Shrewsberry.

Hanover baseball rally falls short at Spalding

BY THE COUREIR STAFF

Hanover baseball rallied for four runs in the top of the ninth to push ahead of Spalding 13-11 only to see the Eagles plate three runs in the bottom of the inning for a 14-13 walk-off non-conference win Tuesday in Louisville.

Trailing 9-8, Hanover tied the contest in the top of the sixth inning when Alex Christie, a junior from Greenwood, Indiana, lashed an RBI single through the right side to score Jake Danneman but Spalding plated two runs in the bottom of the eighth inning to regain the lead 11-9.

With their backs against the wall, Eric Roudebush and Andrew Oesterling, a sophomore from Batesville, delivered.

Roudebush scored the first run before Oesterling singled to center to knot the contest 11-11. Grady Stickney, a sophomore from Cincinnati, then singled to right to score Oesterling and Reid Doubles for the go ahead runs and a 13-11 advantage.

Charlie Joyce, Hanover's sixth pitcher, was pinned with the loss in one-third of an inning of relief.

Hanover (6-8) returns to action at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, March 25 when they open Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference action by hosting Mount St. Joseph.

SOFTBALL SWEEPS ASBURY

Hanover softball got home runs from Mallorie Fultz and Carson Kruse while sweeping Asbury College on Tuesday in Wilmore, Kentucky, in blowout fashion as Hanover won game one 12-1 and the nightcap 12-5.

Lauren Beaman, a senior from Indianapolis, picked up the game one win by throwing a complete game with seven strikeouts. She added a save in game two with three complete innings of work.

Both Hanover home runs came in game two as Kruse went yard in the first inning and Fultz connected in the third inning as Hanover jumped out to an 8-1 lead.

Hanover (7-13) is back in action at 1 p.m. on Sunday, March 26, when Augustana visits.

MEN'S LACROSSE ROUTED AT DEPAUW

Hanover men's lacrosse squared off with DePauw in non-conference action Wednesday night in Greencastle, Indiana, and was sent home on the wrong side of a 16-2 rout.

Alex Kleinheter, a sophomore from Fishers, and Zach Stone, a junior from Elizabethtown, Kentucky, scored the Panthers' lone goals in the contest while Dirk Meinhart, a senior from Elizabethtown, took a team-high six shots but never found goal.

The Panthers fell behind 6-0 by halftime and 13-0 before Stone broke up the shutout by taking a pass from Meinhart and scoring Hanover's first goal with 2:30 left in the third period. Kleinelter struck with one second left in the third — off another pass by Meinhart — for Hanover's final goal before being shut out in the fourth as the Tigers added three more markers.

DePauw's Jack Flynn (6), Henry White (5) and Eli Federman (3) each individually outscored Hanover for the Tigers.

Hanover (3-4) is back in action at noon on Sunday to host Adrian (Michigan) at Alumni Stadium.

BARRON

at Rock Creek in early January. Despite facing a junk defense, Barron exploded for a career-high 27 points as the Hilltoppers rallied to beat the 15-win Lions by four points.

Barron used every weapon in her arsenal to lead Shawe back in that game and Kring thinks that performance was just a sign of things to come.

"Coming into this year, you knew there was the ability not just with her but with the entire team and I don't think the entire team knew exactly how good they could be, just like her. I don't think any of them have reached their full potential," Kring said of his team. "I would say that Rock Creek game was a game that everything kind of clicked for her. It was like, here we go. And she really dominated that game from start to finish. They threw a junk defense at us and it kind of stymied us a little bit as an entire team, but once we saw it again, we were ready for it."

Barron ended up averaging 15.8 points per game, tops in both the area and the ORVC, and added 5.8 rebounds per game while shooting 49% from the floor and 77% from the free-throw line.

Barron believes that part of her success can be attributed to the fact that, even as a freshman, she has played with her teammates for a long time. The Hilltoppers started two sophomores and two freshmen, all of whom had tremendous success in junior high school.

"We kind of have played together forever," Barron said. "I played with Allison (Knoebel) and Ava (Turner) for a couple years and we have played with Hunter (Mote) a bunch. We just fit together."

Barron still has three years left in her high school career and she has high expectations. She wants to avenge Shawe's sectional loss to Trinity Lutheran and hopes to bring the school its first-ever sectional championship.

She also has lofty personal goals after high school.

"I want to play in college. Hopefully Division I," she said with a smile. "Maybe even IU."

"She's not a big talker. She's like a lot of us, we're all about the business in front of us," Kring said. "These girls are concerned about one stat and one stat only and that's winning, and she's no different. I think she'd give up every one of these awards to have another shot at that sectional."

award, his Hilltoppers had two players named to the First Team, led by Player of the Year Audrey Barron. Sophomore Allison Knoebel, the heart of the team, joins Barron on the First Team after averaging 11.7 points and 3.1 assists per game. Fellow sophomore Ava Turner was a Second Team selection after averaging 9.7 points and 6.9 rebounds per game. Barron was also named the Freshman of the Year.

All five First Team selections were underclassmen. Trimble County junior Addison Edmondson earned a spot on the First Team for the second-straight year after averaging 13.5 points and 5.1 rebounds on a season that saw her become the 10th player in school history to joined the 1,000-point club.

Southwestern junior Ashley Fulton averaged 13.6 points per game, second in the area to Barron's 15.8, and led the ORVC in 3-pointers to earn a spot on the First Team. Madison's Juliana Davis made an impression in her freshman season, earning the team's Most Valuable Player award by averaging 11.9 points and 3.2 steals per game and is the final member of the Courier-area First Team.

Madison seniors Cam Cahall (10.1 ppg, 5.5 rpg) and Casey Dyer (8.5 ppg, 5.3 rpg) were named to the Courier-area Second Team and are joined by Carroll County teammates Kaitlyn Hensley (13.3 ppg, 4.2 rpg) and Courtney Strickland (12.3 ppg, 3.5 rpg). Strickland, a senior, passed the 1,000-point mark late in the season, the sixth player in program history to do so.

Southwestern sophomore Claudia Oliver, a foreign exchange student from Spain, made the most of her one high school season in the United States by averaging 11.0 ppg and 4.4 rpg despite suffering a stress fracture in her leg in late December and rounds out the Second Team.

Barron's 15.8 points per game allowed her to be the first Shawe player to win the area scoring title since Kate Grote in 2018. Fulton was second in the area at 13.6 ppg, just one-tenth of a point ahead of Edmondson (13.5). Hensley (13.3) and Strickland (12.3) round out the top five.

Customer trips over stylist tips

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I wear my hair short and have had the same stylist cut it regularly for the past 10 to 12 years. The stylist was always an employee at a pretty upscale salon, and as their prices continued to rise two to three times a year, I continued to go because I had built a rapport with the stylist. I always tipped my stylist 20 percent to 25 percent.

Now the stylist has left the expensive salon and gone out on her own in a small rented suite.

I was taken aback when she kept the same high price for a haircut as the salon was charging. Am I still required to tip this person who is the business owner and has set the prices herself?

I feel that leaving the price as high as it was at the salon would be enough to cover their costs and make a profit without me adding a tip. I feel awkward not tipping the same person because they don't have a boss, but on the other hand I feel taken advantage of if I'm expected to add 20 percent to the already high price. What is the correct way to handle this?

— Trimmed

Dear Trimmed: Let's say your stylist charged $50 for a trim at the upscale salon.

You routinely tipped her another $10. So, as of your stylist's departure from the upscale salon, your regular haircuts were worth $60 to you. You cite business reasons (she surrendered half of her fee to the salon owner) for why you chose to pay and tip the way you did. Your stylist has now opened her own business and is paying rent, utilities and overhead. Have her skills declined? Are your haircuts no longer worth $60 to you?

If not, you should patronize another business, and your stylist will have received a useful example of how her current pricing is working in the marketplace.

My overall point is that it is not your job to scrutinize this person's business model and decide what her profit margin should be. If you choose to continue to patronize this business, yes – it is now considered standard to tip the person who cuts your hair, even if that person owns the business.

Readers respond with helpful advice

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: "Looking for Grief Etiquette" wrote to you about her grief after experiencing a miscarriage.

As a retired obstetrician, I have had considerable experience with this. One point I discussed with patients early in pregnancy was the fact that pregnancy loss is much more common than most people realize.

I suggested that they carefully consider whom they tell about their pregnancy until after the first trimester, when pregnancy loss is much less common, thus avoiding the problem of telling many people the bad news. I also found advice I was given 15 years ago, when my wife died, very helpful. The insight was that people who asked, "What can I do?" of a grieving person really are asking because they don't know how to be helpful.

My answer, at that difficult time, was: "Invite me to dinner." I think it was win-win. This helped me, and I think they were glad to do something that I appreciated. This woman who had miscarried had her answer: "Send me some flowers." She should not have hesitated to ask this of her friends.

— Neil Kochenour, MD

Dear Dr. Kochenour: Thank you for your helpful wisdom. Regarding miscarriage – I agree that it is most judicious to wait to announce a pregnancy, but even when couples haven't announced their pregnancy, they often still choose to disclose a miscarriage to their circle of friends and family.

Dear Amy: "Scammed" wrote about the increasingly popular scam of being contacted by a supposedly reputable company which asks you to purchase gift cards.

You suggested that store clerks selling gift cards should be trained to be on the lookout. I purchased several hundred dollars' worth of gift cards at my local Giant grocery store, and the clerk did ask me if a third party had asked me to buy the cards.

Out of curiosity, I asked if anyone has ever answered "yes" to that question, and he said that indeed they had stopped many people from falling prey to this scam.

Store employees are certainly a great weapon against these scammers.

— Faithful Customer

Dear Customer: I am very happy to learn that store clerks are helping to educate customers on the danger of gift card scammers.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Communicate your intentions clearly and sincerely to receive the best results. This could be an ideal day to make persuasive arguments or make important presentations because people can be inclined to see things your way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Saving up money for a worthwhile purchase could be on your mind. Your unrestrained ideas may become of interest to someone special in your life. Enjoy cheerful, intimate moments with your favorite companion.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Nothing can hold you back. Your persistence could make you a winner. You possess a powerhouse of determination when you are engaged in an ambitious activity. A loved one or partner can offer sound advice and ample support.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Your assessment of a family situation could be off target. Someone might receive more attention than you feel they deserve or less credit than you believe they are entitled to have. Place more emphasis on family values than on dollars and cents.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You may learn of an opportunity or be surprised by the inspiring things someone says. Misunderstandings with coworkers or partners are possible, however, so it may be best to wait until after the weekend to address a touchy issue regarding possible loyalties.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — It's important to be very selective about the people you associate with. You may be willing to welcome almost anyone into your circle of acquaintances but should take your time to decide who's a real friend that can be trusted deeply.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Some cheerful plotting may be afoot, but nothing too bizarre should come from meeting up with friends on a Friday evening. Some people in a group may have heightened ambitions, but you do not need to join in on their plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Every inch you give will gain you miles. Be generous when you make amends and work hard to clarify any misunderstandings. You might meet exciting people but remember the real world is not reflected in romance novels.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Slow down to smell the roses, hear children's laughter and see the sunset. If you are in too much of a hurry, you might miss an opportunity or needed help from others. Rely on loyal supporters to rally around your long-range plans.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Get your hands dirty — it takes a lot of effort to plant a garden. Sow seeds that could grow into permanent and stable financial improvements. Whatever you build can be completed thanks to your passion and self-discipline.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Let your money grow rather than watching it go out the window. Rely on trustworthy financial and business experience. If you already have a solid plan of action in place, there is no reason to make impulsive changes.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Concentrate on surrounding yourself with peace and tranquility. Do not make crucial changes or decisions during the next few days. Things could become complicated if you participate in someone's convoluted plans.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Polish up your small talk. Beyond that, get a handle on the latest news and trends and you may discover something that could make a difference to you and others. Ignore unappetizing gossip or attempts to stir up outrage or controversy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Join the parade and enjoy group athletics or activities. Get a spark of excitement when you meet new people, see new things or visit unusual places. Your interest in original ideas and friendly attitude may win you some new admirers.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Embrace an opportunity to make your dreams a reality. You have numerous goals, but one might be achieved with less effort than anticipated thanks to a kind benefactor. Don't hesitate to ask for support or assistance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You should not promise more than you can deliver. You might put your foot in your mouth if you try to explain your thought process. An unforeseen change in your budget might be just what you need to begin saving more.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — No matter how old you are, you may feel younger than your years. This could be a good weekend to find ways to share your affection and romantic ideas with a loved one. Let yourself be as carefree as a kid when school lets out for summer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may begin to appreciate someone who is understanding and sympathetic. There's less of a chance of making mistakes when you have somebody to help pick up the slack. Find time to revisit and reassess your personal goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Sweep the old out the door so there is room for the new. Get out of a rut by altering your routines and exploring innovative ideas and fresh experiences. A change of pace can be invigorating, even if it only lasts for a brief time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Do not let your heart overrule your head. You may be fascinated by a new friend but that does not mean that you are on the threshold of a romantic situation. Going over recent expenditures may offer insights into a financial situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Pay attention to passing conversations as you could pick up some valuable pieces of information. Having a trusted friend by your side may make you more comfortable when mingling at community social events or activities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You know yourself better than anyone else. Other people may make suggestions, but you are the only one who understands what makes you happy. Follow through on projects and pastimes that give you the greatest satisfaction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You are long past the age when children say "no" to everything. Explore a new world of possibilities by saying "yes" to new people and pleasures. Ambitions could be moved up a notch, so you could aspire to greater things.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Good things come to those who wait. If single, a budding romance may be ready to blossom but may take some more time before conditions are ripe. Serenity can be yours if you listen with your heart as well as your ears.

Pacers beat Toronto Raptors 118-114 on Wednesday

BY IAN HARRISON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

TORONTO — Rookie guard Andrew Nembhard had 25 points and 10 assists in his first NBA game back home in Canada, and the Indiana Pacers beat the Toronto Raptors 118-114 on Wednesday night to snap their home winning streak at seven.

Myles Turner scored 16 points, Bennedict Mathurin added 15 and Buddy Hield had 13 for the Pacers, who swept the three-game season series between the teams.

Canadian-born players Mathurin, Nembhard and Oshae Brissett all started for Indiana as the Raptors celebrated Canada Basketball Night. It was the first time since the NBA began tracking starters in 1970-71 that three Canadians started for the same team.

"For it to happen in Toronto, it's pretty cool," Pacers coach Rick Carlisle said. "All three of those guys played well. Nembhard had a great game. Mathurin was terrific. I thought Brissett did what he does. He gave us energy, rebounded, he scored the first five points of the game. That was great."

Pascal Siakam scored 18 of his 31 points in the fourth quarter but the Raptors lost their second straight. Siakam also had 10 rebounds and seven assists.

Fred VanVleet had 28 points and 11 assists for Toronto, and Jakob Poeltl scored 23.

Poeltl missed two free throws with 1:24 left when Toronto could have cut the deficit to two. After a missed 3 by VanVleet, Nembhard connected from long range to give the Pacers a 114-107 lead with 33 seconds to play.

"That was the shot that put the game away," Carlisle said. "Just an amazing night for him and his family."

Nembhard shot 11 for 17, going 3 of 5 from long range.

"I didn't really feel too much pressure to play out of character tonight," he said. "I just wanted to be aggressive."

Fellow rookie Mathurin made three of his five shots and earned praise from Carlisle for his defensive effort on VanVleet.

"It was really fun just to play in Toronto my first time," Mathurin said.

"The fact that we got the win makes it even more exciting."

The short-handed Raptors were without forward Scottie Barnes, who exited Sunday's loss at Milwaukee because of a sore left wrist. Toronto was also without forward Precious Achiuwa (right hamstring) and guard Gary Trent Jr. (right elbow).

Toronto lost at home for the first time since Feb. 10 against Utah, when the Jazz overcame a 12-point deficit in the final five minutes to beat the Raptors 122-116.

"Didn't feel super organized at either end at the start or for a while," Raptors coach Nick Nurse said. "I thought that we let a lot of chances go."

The Raptors shot 7 for 34 from 3-point range. Chris Boucher's buzzer-beating shot helped Toronto avoid matching a season low for makes and setting a new low for shooting percentage from beyond the arc.

Nembhard scored 14 points in the first, the most he's ever had in a single quarter, as the Pacers led 36-26 after one.

"Nembhard obviously at the start was big," Nurse said.

Indiana led 58-52 at halftime and took an 83-78 lead into the fourth.

TIP-INS

Pacers: T.J. McConnell scored 14 points and Jordan Nwora had 10. … G Tyrese Haliburton (right ankle), G Chris Duarte (left ankle) and G/F Kendall Brown (right leg) all sat for Indiana. … The Pacers committed 18 turnovers, leading to 21 points for Toronto. … Indiana outscored the Raptors 40-21 in bench points. ... The Pacers are 3-1 when Nembhard scores 20 or more.

Raptors: Barnes sat for the fourth time this season and first since Nov. 26. … Actor Mike Myers sat opposite the Toronto bench. Actor Nicholas Braun also attended the game, sitting in a baseline seat.

HIELD FINED

Hield was fined $25,000 for making an obscene gesture while sitting on the bench during the second quarter of Monday's loss at Charlotte. TV cameras caught him raising his middle finger to someone on the court.

Reds' Diaz shakes off shock of brother's injury

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

GOODYEAR, Ariz. — Alexis Díaz is focusing on what is expected to a prominent role for him in the Cincinnati Reds bullpen after the shock of seeing his older brother get hurt while they played together for Puerto Rico in the World Baseball Classic.

Edwin Díaz, the All-Star closer for the New York Mets, is expected to miss the entire season after surgery last week for a torn patellar tendon in his right knee. He was hurt while celebrating a WBC victory.

"In regards to my brother, it was tough," Alexis Díaz said Monday at the Reds camp in Goodyear, Arizona. "I was there celebrating with him and I saw him fall to his knees afterward. ... The next couple days were really tough. We were supposed to have a grand old time. Seeing him in the locker room really put me down right after that."

Alexis Díaz said he has been in communication with his brother through the whole process. He said his brother told him that he's good and will be coming back with a positive mentality.

"I feel better now," the younger Díaz said. "I've kind of come down from that moment."

Díaz was 7-3 with a 1.84 ERA in 59 games as a rookie for Cincinnati last season.

He had 10 saves, seven of them after the start of August.

After spending some time with Díaz, manager David Bell said he is confident that the Reds reliever is going to be fine.

"It's one thing when it's your teammate, but it's his brother. It is tough," Bell said.

"He seemed to be in a very good frame of mind. Emotionally, he's fine and ready to get back to pitch."

Utah Valley was ahead for nearly 39 minutes, with Cincinnati's only lead at 4-3.

Utah Valley (28-8) will play in the NIT semifinals for the first time in program history on Tuesday night against UAB. The Wolverines have won seven of eight games to improve their program record for wins.

Tim Fuller had 12 points and nine rebounds and Le'Tre Darthard scored all nine of his points in the second half.

Woodbury, averaging 13.6 points per game, scored 12 points in the first half to help Utah Valley build a 39-33 lead. Bandaogo and Harmon each added 10 points as only four players scored for the Wolverines. Cincinnati missed 10 straight shots midway through the first half and trailed 25-13.

DES. # 2001950
LEGAL NOTICE OF PLANNED IMPROVEMENT
The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) has developed preliminary plans for a small structure replacement project on State Road (SR) 256 over unnamed tributary (UNT) to Lewis Creek, 2.49 miles east of SR 3, in Jefferson County, Indiana.
The project proposes the replacement of the existing structure with an 18-foot span by 10-foot rise reinforced concrete box that is 39 feet in length with a 12-inch sump, with headwalls and wingwalls. Additionally, new guardrail will be installed to protect the ends of the culvert and prevent errant vehicles from exiting the roadway. The replacement will be a single-span under fill structure, and the ends of the structure will be protected with Class 1 riprap on geotextiles to prevent scour. The new structure will be constructed on the existing roadway alignment, width, and profile. The roadway typical section will consist of two 11-foot lanes, one in each direction, with 4-foot paved shoulders on each side. Road reconstruction will consist of full-depth pavement replacement to match the existing pavement. Roadside ditches will be utilized to perpetuate existing drainage and outlet the water into the unnamed tributary to Lewis Creek.
The Maintenance of Traffic (MOT) plan will require a road closure and a detour utilizing SR 3, SR 56, and SR 62. The detour is approximately 14.1 miles long and is anticipated to be in place for two to four months. Land use in the project area is primarily agricultural and deciduous forest. Construction of the project will require approximately 1.0 acre of permanent right-of-way (ROW) and no temporary ROW. Construction costs are expected to be $1,078,323 and both federal and state funds are to be utilized for the construction of this project. Construction is anticipated to begin in Spring 2025.
The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) and INDOT have agreed that this project within the guidelines of a Categorical Exclusion (CE) Level 2 environmental document with no significant impacts to wetlands.
Preliminary design plans, along with the CE document, are available for review at the following locations:

Louisville pummels Texas 73-51 for spot in Sweet 16

BY JIM VERTUNO
ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN, Texas — Louisville rarely opens the NCAA Tournament away from home. The Cardinals could learn to love these early road trips.

Faced off with No. 4 Texas on the Longhorns' home court, Hailey Van Lith and the No. 5 Cardinals delivered a swaggering, smothering, romping 73-51 victory Monday night to earn Louisville's sixth consecutive trip the Sweet 16.

Van Lith scored 21 points, delivering the early punches and then the late knockout blows for the Cardinals.

"Coach (Jeff Walz) told us, 'How many times can you quiet down the crowd,' " Van Lith said.

Louisville didn't host the first two rounds of the tournament for the first time since 2015, excluding the 2021 pandemic tournament played entirely in Texas. And from the opening tip against Texas, the Cardinals pushed around the Big 12 regular season co-champion and relished the silence as the Longhorns unraveled.

Louisville (25-11) led by as much as 27 early in the fourth. The win sends the Cardinals to the Seattle 4 Region to play No. 8-seed Mississippi, which upset No. 1 Stanford on Sunday. Louisville made the Final Four last season. "We wanted to go out and prove we're the same Louisville tough that this program has been for a long time now," Van Lith said. She also scored 26 in Louisville's first-round win over Drake.

In a matchup of two teams that began the season in the Top 10 only to fall out of the rankings before regrouping late, the Cardinals stifled Texas' standout point guard Rori Harmon all night, stretching a 14-point halftime lead to 21 by end of the third quarter.

Harmon missed the November matchup between the teams when Louisville beat the Longhorns in November, and was never a factor in the rematch. Harmon scored 10 points but was mostly shut down after the first quarter. Van Lith, Mykasa Robinson and Chrislyn Carr's defensive rotations allowed Harmon three assists in the first quarter, but no more. Harmon also had five turnovers before limping off the court late in the fourth quarter with an apparent ankle injury. "We just really tried to wear her out," Robinson said.

DeYona Gaston scored 12 points to lead Texas (26-10) after sitting for nearly the entire first quarter because of an early foul.

Louisville took control of the game with a 9-0 run to start the second quarter, punctuated by 6-foot-5 center Josie Williams' 3-pointer from the top of the arc, and the Cardinals led by 14 at halftime.

Texas cut the deficit under 10 early in the third before Van Lith and Louisville answered with another 9-0 run. Robinson spied Carr in the corner on a fast break for a 3-pointer that put the Cardinals up 49-31.

"I thought we played great," Walz said. "Toughness, it does matter. I will say we shot the ball pretty darn well, too." Texas coach Vic Schaefer could only shake his head at the rout.

"Toughness has been kind of an issue all year long," Schaefer said. "It's been an Achilles that showed up again today."

BIG PICTURE

Louisville: The Cardinals' frontcourt of Liz Dixon, Olivia Cochran and Morgan Jones combined for 22 points but most importantly disrupted everything Texas could do near the basket. The Longhorns were just 7 of 22 on layups. Louisville outscored Texas in the paint 38-20.

After getting outrebounded 13-6 in the first quarter, Louisville ended the game with a 42-34 advantage on the boards.

Texas: With the loss, Schaefer had his string of NCAA Elite Eight appearances snapped at five. Schaefer took Mississippi State to three straight, advancing twice to the Final Four, before accepting the job at Texas. The Longhorns have not reached the Final Four since 2003, when Hall of Famer Jody Conradt was coach.

TEXAS MISFIRES

The Longhorns were just 12 of 20 from the free-throw line, stifling any early chances Texas had to stem Louisville's momentum. "It's hard to win scoring 51 points," Schaefer said. "I hate it that we went out like we did today. ... Texas deserves so much better than what I gave them today."

Miami holds off No. 1 seed Indiana women 70-68

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Destiny Harden wanted the ball in her hands.

After losing to eventual national champion South Carolina on the road last March, after helping her team complete a historic comeback two days earlier and after seeing top-seeded Indiana tie the score on a 3-pointer with 6.6 seconds left, Harden wanted to close it out.

She did. Following a timeout, she got the ball into the middle of the lane and made the tie-breaking shot with 3.5 seconds left, giving ninth-seeded Miami a 70-68 road victory Monday night and its first Sweet 16 trip since 1992. "It was the exact same play as last year so I should have known it was coming to me," Harden said. "I just thank the coaches for trusting me, the players for trusting me and it feels good to come through and get to the Sweet 16."

Monday's stunner capped two monumental moments this weekend for Miami (21-12) and a wild second round in the NCAA Tournament with two No. 1 seeds falling in consecutive days. Stanford was upset on its home court Sunday night — marking the first time since 1998 two top seeds were eliminated before the regional semifinals.

It came as a huge shock to the 14,000 fans packed into Assembly Hall. But instead of celebrating the Hoosiers taking another big step forward, the fans watched in disbelief as Miami ran around and rolled around on the Hoosiers home court as All-American center Mackenzie Holmes broke down in tears before the handshake line formed.

The Hurricanes meant no disrespect. "I tell my players to act like you've been here before, but we haven't been so we were being foolish," longtime Miami coach Katie Meier said. "I looked around for any player who wanted to hug me."

Lola Pendande led Miami with 19 points and seven rebounds. Harden had 18 points including the biggest basket on a night she scored career point No. 1,000. She also played a key role in Saturday's rally from a 17-point halftime deficit.

The Hoosiers (28-4) never led in front of a raucous crowd that grew increasingly agitated with how the game was called and uneasy about how it played out. Indiana trailed from the moment Miami broke a 2-2 tie until Holmes' layup made it 58-58 with 3:53 left to play and fought its way back from a 12-point halftime deficit. Yet in the waning moments, they blew two chances to take the lead in the final 40 seconds — a missed layup from Chloe Moore-McNeil and an uncharacteristic errant midrange jumper from Grace Berger before Moore-McNeil finally tied it at 68 with a 3-pointer with 6.6 seconds left. But the Hoosiers couldn't stop Harden then turned the ball over on their final possession, sealing their first home loss all season and the second for Indiana basketball in two nights to Miami, whose men's team also beat Indiana in the second round.

Holmes had 22 points and nine rebounds after sitting out Saturday with a sore knee. Berger finished with 17 points, six rebounds and six assists in her final home game. "It's hard to put into words right now. Obviously, I'm very upset," Holmes said, her voice cracking as the tears again flowed. "My last game with Grace, she shouldn't go out like this. It's been great to play with her for four years. It hurts to go out this way."

Miami: The Hurricanes completed an incredible road trip by getting just enough to hold off the hard-charging Hoosiers. A year ago, they fell short against another No. 1 seed in the second round despite holding the Gamecocks to a season-low 49 points. This time, they're harassing defense got the job done.

Indiana: The best season in school history came to a shockingly early end. They won the first outright Big Ten regular-season title in school history and finished a school-best second in the final Associated Press Top 25 poll.

2022 School Corporation Annual Performance Report (APR)

General Explanations

The APR is a report on the performance of schools and school corporations (districts) in your area. The goal is to provide information regarding the progress schools are making to help students become college and career ready. Where possible, this report contains three years of data to show trends – not just this year's results. In addition, the state average is also shown for comparison purposes. There are additional indicators that are available on the Indiana Department of Education's website (inview.doe.in.gov), including data broken out by different student populations, such as race, gender, income level, and special education status.

Indiana educators and citizens have developed higher academic standards for all students. These standards are necessary to prepare Hoosier students to be successful in life, whether their next steps are enrollment, employment, or enlistment leading to service. For high schools, you will see graduation rates and the percentage of graduates who plan to pursue a credential or certification beyond their high school diploma.

Other important data are provided, such as average attendance rates and indicators of school safety, including expulsions and suspensions. Additional financial information is also provided, including how much is spent, on average, for each student; how much teachers are paid; and the percentage of corporation students who are in special education classes or gifted and talented classes.

Charlotte edges EKU for CBI title

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Aly Khalifa scored 14 of his 20 points in the first half, Montre' Gipson made three 3-pointer in the second half, and No. 3 seed Charlotte held off No. 8 seed Eastern Kentucky 71-68 on Wednesday night in the championship game of the College Basketball Invitational.

Charlotte (22-14) finished the season with its most wins since the 2000-01 campaign, when it took down Tennessee in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament. The 49ers were appearing in the postseason for the first time since earning an at-large bid to the 2013 NIT.

Charlotte made eight of its first nine shots and led 18-5 as Eastern Kentucky only made two field goals in the opening eight minutes. Khalifa made all six of his shots in the first half to help the 49ers build a 42-24 lead at halftime after shooting 72% (18 of 25) from the field. EKU had five scoring droughts of at least 90 seconds in the first half.

It was the fourth time in the tournament the Colonels trailed at halftime — before rattling off three straight overtime wins to reach the title game.

Cooper Robb, who played at Charlotte from 2018-20, made two 3-pointers during EKU's 12-5 run to open the second half. But Charlotte kept its double-digit lead until the 8:44 mark when EKU scored 13 unanswered points.

Robb made a steal and raced the other way for a long 3-pointer to get EKU within 69-68 with 47.4 seconds left. Isaiah Folkes answered with a layup, off a nice pass by Gipson, for a three-point lead with 16 seconds left. After a timeout, Robb had a 3-point attempt blocked by Brice Williams and Tayshawn Comer had another attempt for EKU but it came up short.
